

Locks of love

My charity is Locks of love. I chose this because it's not the cancer patients faults that they lost their hair. Their hair is lost due to radiation and chemotherapy treatments. It would be nice for hair to feel normal. I also chose this because you can't afford wigs, why not give them hair? Their treatments make them loose hair, I'd rather see these patients loose their hair then die. They need the treatments but they need to feel good about themselves. This was my charity I chose to help. It's also my reasons to that you should help.
